

To recover the password we need to understand what the 2 called functions do on the input. The first one converts the input to hex, and the 2nd one applies ROT13 on the hex, which is then checked against a value stored in memory. We can easily reverse this using CyberChef:

Made with love by: AndreiCat