To solve this challenge, all we need to do is use the TCP stream. Stream 42 is a zip file containing the flag. However, it is password-protected, so we need to find the password. The challenge description hints that the password is a credential, so we look through the ftp logins and see if any of the credentials match. Turns out, the credential at the beginning of Stream 28 is the password for the zip.

Made with love by: AndreiCat